13 Moons Ashi Niswi Giizisoog is hosting a plant walk. Shannon Kesner, FDL RM Wetlands Specialist will instruct participants on identifying plants in the field.

Within the Ojibwe culture we have many plants that are used for food, medicine, and utility. Shannon will be identifying wild leeks, fiddleheads and spring plants. Join us for a beginner's plant identification outdoor workshop and learn about harvesting plants for their uses. We will meet at FDL Resource Management for a short presentation and then she will take you outdoors.

This event is free and open to the public.

Bring water and a bag lunch and dress for muddy conditions.

Light snacks provided

RSVP to Shannon Kesner to hold a space!
