Another long time FDL employee retires

By Zachary N. Dunaiski

Apr. 20, at the Black Bear Casino Resort Otter Creek Event Center, Fond du Lac said goodbye to Bunny Jaakola after 30 years of service to the Band.

It isn't even halfway through the year and already Fond du Lac has had three people retire totaling 96 years of service. Losing that amount of knowledge will be difficult for the employees of the Band, but we will have to use the wisdom they passed on to us to keep things going smoothly here on the Reservation.

Bunny grew up on a farm, and while in many ways it did prepare her for her career on the Reservation, it wasn't exactly how most people get into her line of work.

"I grew up understanding animal behavior not human behavior. I had to work hard and it really prepared me for the career that I had in Human Services," Bunny said. While she loved the work she did, she joked that her father may not have understood how she was working all these years.

"I've said this before, if my dad knew I was being paid to sit in meetings, he would roll over in his grave."

Her hard work over the last 30 years is exactly why FDL's Human Services Department has as many great jobs as it does today. Those coworkers have become friends after all these years.

"I teased some of the therapists and case managers that I'm coming back as a client," Bunny said with a chuckle from the crowd.

"When I was hired in 1987, I wasn't sure I was going to stay very long. Because at that time I wasn't a social worker, I wasn't an educator, I wasn't a court person, I wasn't a probation officer, I just kind of walked the line between all of those things. I learned a lot of lessons and I enjoyed every minute," Bunny said.

She may not have been those things when she started but the one thing that Bunny was, was dedicated. Her dedication helped grow the FDL Human Services division and more importantly helped a lot of Fond du Lac Band members heal in many different ways by bringing many different services to the Reservation.

In the summer of 2007, Bunny got a chance to discuss her work on a global scale.

"One of the greatest highlights of my whole career was the trip to Beijing, China. It was the year before the Olympics and a great time to be there. I was one of the three Americans that presented along with three Chinese social workers. What I talked about was the development of the social services department at Fond du Lac. What I remember about that was the social workers there were all male, they were wearing black Chinese collared suits. And I had brought bright yellow shirts from our child abuse prevention walks. I had taken 3 of them that had the Ojibwe words for working together and I presented the three presenters from China with those t-shirts. They put them on over these bulky suits and walked up and down the isles showing the people that they're working with the United States. It was quite an honor, and I'll remember that forever."

Many friends, family, and community members congratulating Bunny on a great career.

A few of Bunny's current and former employees spoke, and the theme of the day was that Bunny had never been looking for any recognition for her work. Which of course wasn't going to be the case at her retirement party, but Bunny was still able to pass the credit back to others.

"I'm very grateful for the opportunities I've had. None of this would have been possible without strong, ethical, and committed staff, co-workers, and management. And I just think, what would I have done without you. So I say 'thank you.'"

Everything she's done for the Band over the last 30 years has been a debt we can never repay. All we can do is learn from the example she set and work hard to help keep Fond du Lac moving forward.

The mission of this publication is to provide the Anishinaabeg community of the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa, Fond du Lac Reservation, with news and information that will be of help to them in their everyday lives. In addition, our goal will be to highlight many of the honors, accolades, accomplishments and awards that are earned by community members but are mostly overlooked by the mass mainstream media.

It is our hope that through greater information about the activities of our people, this publication can be an instrument of true community. It is not our intention to be a vehicle of divisiveness. To that end, we do not publish editorials, opinion pieces or letters to the editor. There is an abundance of opportunity for the publishing, airing and dissemination of material of personal opinion in other communication vehicles available throughout the area, region and state.

Our mission is to provide for Fond du Lac Anishinaabeg a publication that will not dismiss their culture, heritage, hopes and dreams. We are striving to make this newspaper fill that role.

RBC Thoughts

Boozhoo,

Well, yesterday it was 70 with sunshine and today it is 30 with snow flurries. It must be spring in Minnesota. The participants in the spearing and netting are doing fairly well even with ever changing weather. I miss the days of coordinating these seasons for the Reservation. It was always a challenge to meet the needs of Band members within the window provided by the weather. The Band members were usually successful, being able to provide fish for many dinners. Speaking of dinner, we had another successful Night at the Bear with over 600 Elders in attendance for dinner. As with any event, there are several people that put lots of time and effort into making this event a success. The first of many are the event center staff for setting up the room and decorating the tables. Next is the banquet staff for ensuring that the food trays were always full and the tables were cleaned. They also were serving Elders that were unable to get their own plate. It is also fitting that the kitchen staff be congratulated for preparing a delicious meal for all to enjoy. As always, the players club and the casino hosts for taking the reservations and helping ensure that the participants had a good time. I also would like to thank the group that puts together the photo show as it is very enjoyable to watch. There should also be thanks to the RBC for their support of this event and lastly, I would like to thank you, the participants, for without you this event would not be possible. Julia (Bunny) Jaakola had her retirement party this past week. I arrived a little late so I was not able to hear most of the presenters but I gathered they had good things to say about Bunny and the work she did for the Reservation over the past 30 years. I listened to the heartfelt words that she spoke about how she began her life on a farm and never dreamed about going to school. How she never dreamed about getting a college education or becoming the behavioral health manager or being able to bring the type of help or program that has become commonplace at Fond du Lac. What I took from what Bunny was saying was we are capable of doing some spectacular things with our lives if we are willing to make the commitment.

Sawyer News

Boozhoo,

The U.S. Forest Service and the Fond du Lac Reservation are working on a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) in order for Band members to use the U.S. Forest campgrounds. The cost that would be required would be waived with a Tribal ID. Our Resource Management Division will be publishing a list of available camping sites throughout the Ceded Territories.

The Band and the City of Duluth are in the early stages of discussion about possibly doing an interactive Ojibwe display in collaboration with the Lake Superior Aquarium. They are very open to the idea and continuation of education and relationship building. The open dialogue is important and is happening in a positive and constructive way.

If you have been in the casino lately you will notice the new games. Our Slots department has impressed visitors with the variety of new slot machines. We hope to highlight our 'Up North' appeal and overall gaming experience. Keep up the good work everyone; the efforts to work together are evident.

By the time you read this, our spring clean-up crews will be in full swing. I would like to thank the Sawyer Center staff for putting on a great Easter Party. There were over 100 people in attendance and Peter Rabbit who visited with families. Staff hid eggs for the youth. The Sawyer community was approved for a high tunnel by NRCS, which will be exciting for youth to help with this summer. Please be mindful of the safety infrastructure being set in place with signage for reduced speed in the community, increased safety reminders and overall accountability.

I would like to thank Conservation, Fisheries, and the biologist for working hard to organize a safe fish harvest for Band members. Also, this month two of our FDL Police Officers and the District 3 Representative were recognized for their quick thinking which saved a life in our community. Other first responders and private citizens were honored for their service.

Congratulations to the 6th grade Fond du Lac Boys' basketball team for winning the Minnesota Regional Pace setters Tournament. In the last 10 seconds of the game the boys came together to steal the ball and gain control of the game only to shoot from half court for the winning point. This was definitely the most exciting game of the season. Many parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, and community members were there to congratulate them on their win. Their coach, Cory Mountain, encouraged these young boys and believed in them all season.

Climate Change Vulnerability Assessment and Adaptation Plan

Aaniin, Natural Resource and Environmental staff from the Fond du Lac, Grand Portage, Bois Forte Bands, and the 1854 Treaty Authority partnered with Adaptation International and Great Lakes Integrated Sciences Assessments to create a living document that not only investigates climate change and how it is affecting our Reservations and the 1854 Ceded Territory, but also has strategies on how we can address changes in our surrounding environment due to changes in climate. Climate change not only affects the living things around us, but also our landscapes and traditions as Anishinaabeg.

Fisheries

As a staple food for the Anishinaabe, fish have always been an important member of our community and way of life. In this section of the climate change and adaptation plan, it was investigated how changes to climate are affecting the three Reservations and the 1854 Ceded Territory lakes and streams, which have a direct impact on fish and their ecosystems.

One such impact of climate change on the fisheries of our region could be increased surface water temperatures and shorter winters. With warmer air temperatures, it is projected that we could see reduced ice cover along with later ice formation and early-ice outs on Lake Superior, inland lakes, and streams.

Lake trout, brook trout, whitefish, burbot, and cisco are cold water species and have a fall spawning season with a spring hatch that relies on ice cover over winter for protection. Extreme weather events and shifts in the timing of hatches could have major effects on these species. Warmer water temperatures can give rise to lower dissolved oxygen. Cisco show a high sensitivity to lower oxygen levels as a result of warming water. Declining oxygen may impact survival of this species, especially in the far southern portion of its native distribution, North Central Minnesota. Lower cisco populations would affect other species of fish such as walleye, northern Pike, whitefish, and lake trout, which rely on them as a food source.

Many of the cool water species, e.g. walleye and northern pike, are expected to have increased growing periods due to warming lakes and streams in Fond du Lac and the 1854 Ceded Territory. In the short term, we should see increased populations of walleye, northern pike, and lake sturgeon. However, it is also projected that over time an increase in warm water species (e.g. largemouth and smallmouth bass, and black crappie) and invasive species (e.g. spiny water flea and zebra mussels) may create higher competition with sources of food or habitat for cool water species like walleye and northern pike.

In the climate change and adaptation plan those that have a minimal ability to adapt are cisco, lake trout, white fish, burbot, and brook trout. Due to the inability to adapt we may see losses of some species or shifts in abundance in lakes on the Fond du Lac Reservation and within the 1854 Ceded Territory and Lake Superior. Walleye, northern pike, lake sturgeon, and yellow perch have a higher adaptive capacity but are still sensitive to climate changes, while largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, black crappie, and bluegill all have a low vulnerability to changes and a high adaptive capacity.

We have already seen changes to fish ecosystems in our region due to overharvesting, air and water pollution, invasive species, and quite possibly climate change. Because fish are an important part of our community, it is our responsibility as Anishinaabeg to respect and take care of them.

For further detail in the Fisheries section of the Climate Change Vulnerability Assessment and Adaptation Strategy Plan or any of the detailed strategies associated with fisheries please visit the Resource Management page and review the full document.

Stay tuned for my review on the next section of the plan in the June newspaper. Miigwech bizindawiyeg.

Public Notice

The eviction procedures for housing owned or administered by the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa have been amended to provide a Tribal court process for evictions. The new procedures, which are now codified as Fond du Lac Ordinance #01/17, are available online at <http://www.fdlrez.com/government/ords/01-17EvictionProcedure> sforHousingOwnedorAdministeredbytheBand2017.02.21.pdf. Copies of the Ordinance may also be obtained from the Housing Division or the Legal Affairs office.

The new procedures will become effective after this notice is published in two consecutive editions of the Band's Nahgahchiwanong • Dibahjimowinnan newspaper. This is the second consecutive notice in the paper.

The Fond du Lac Communications "Fiber to the Home" project is moving along.

Come June, you may notice the installation of the central offices in the Brookston and Sawyer Communities. The main fiber line will begin being laid towards the end of the summer and early fall.

Interested customers are encouraged to take the survey found on the Fond du Lac website (www.fdlrez.com) and complete an easement form for free installation to their home (if you are in the service area). If you do not own your home, your landlord or the home owner will need to give the permission for installation. We will be holding community meetings with more information in May and June, please watch the Fond du Lac website and community center postings for meeting dates and times. If you have questions, would like to confirm eligibility, or need an easement form please visit the Planning Division or call (218) 878-7337.

It is important to know that the services (internet, television, and phone) will not be free and customers will need to subscribe to the service when it is available. We have had questions about other local advertisements for internet services in the area. We want you to know that Fond du Lac Communications has not started advertising for services yet. Services through the "Fiber to the Home" project will not be available until late 2018. If you choose to subscribe to a different service please make smart, informed decisions before signing up. Here are some questions to ask:

- Is there a contract period?
- What will it cost me to get out of the contract early?
- Is the service satellite, wireless, DSL, cable, or fiber?
- What speeds are available? (download and upload)
- Is there a data limit?
- Are there any hidden fees?

May is Melanoma and Skin Cancer Month

Skin cancer is the most common form of cancer in the U.S., and melanoma is the most deadly type of skin cancer. When cancer starts in the skin, it is called skin cancer. More than 90% of melanoma skin cancers are due to skin cell damage from ultraviolet (UV) radiation exposure. The two most common types of skin cancer—basal cell and squamous cell carcinomas—are highly curable, but can be disfiguring and costly. According to CDC American Indian/Alaskan Native have the second highest rate of getting melanoma of the skin. The hours between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Daylight Saving Time (9 a.m. to 3 p.m. standard time) are the most hazardous. A change in your skin is the most common sign of skin cancer. A simple way to remember the signs of melanoma is to remember the A-B-C-D-Es of melanoma—

- “A” stands for asymmetrical. Does the mole or spot have an irregular shape with two parts that look very different?
- “B” stands for border. Is the border irregular or jagged?
- “C” is for color. Is the color uneven?
- “D” is for diameter. Is the mole or spot larger than the size of a pea?
- “E” is for evolving. Has the mole or spot changed during the past few weeks or months?

Risk factors include:

- A lighter natural skin color
- Family history of skin cancer
- A personal history of skin cancer
- Exposure to the sun through work and play
- A history of sunburns (especially early in life)
- A history of indoor tanning
- Skin that burns, freckles, reddens easily, or becomes painful in the sun
- Weakened immune system
- Blue or green eyes
- Blond or red hair and
- Certain types of or a large number of moles.

Always remember to see and consult your Healthcare provider.

New recommendations for putting your baby to sleep safely

By Rebekah Dunlap and Caitlin Rodgers

Recently the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) updated their recommendations for placing babies to sleep safely. These recommendations are made so that we can help lower the chance of sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) or other sleep-related infant deaths. These are some things that you can do to help keep your baby safe while sleeping. Keep in mind that these recommendations are for newborns up until baby reaches one year of age.

Put baby to sleep on his/her back

In the hospital, newborns should be placed skin to skin on mom or dad’s chest, at least for the first hour. This is referred to as the golden hour. After that, even in the hospital, babies should be placed on their backs to sleep. Until babies reach their first birthday, they should always be placed to sleep on their backs. Some babies roll onto their stomachs. You should always place your baby on their back to sleep, but if baby is comfortable enough to roll, repositioning is not needed.

Items inside the sleeping area

Items placed in the sleeping area could potentially block air flow for baby, especially once baby begins moving around more. Do not place blankets, pillows, plush toys, bumpers, or any other items in or around the sleep space. In addition, the area baby sleeps on should be firm and tight fitting inside the crib or bassinet.

Room-sharing vs. bed-sharing

AAP is now recommending babies sleep in the same sleeping area as the guardians for the first 6 months of life in order to make feeding, comfort, and supervising baby easier. Having your baby’s crib or bassinet near your bed at night can decrease the chance of SIDS by up to 50% and is found to be much safer than bed-sharing. Bed-sharing is not recommended by the AAP for any babies. However, certain situations make bed-sharing with baby even more dangerous. Therefore:

- You should not bed share with your baby if your baby is younger than 4 months old
- Your baby was born prematurely or with low birth weight
- You or any other person in the bed is a smoker
- The mother of the baby smoked during pregnancy
- You have taken any medicines or drugs that might make it harder for you to wake up
- You or anyone else who sleeps in the bed drank any alcohol
- You are not the baby's parent
- The surface is soft, such as a waterbed or old mattress or
- If there is soft bedding like pillows or blankets on the bed.

Swaddling during sleep

It is OK to swaddle a baby, just make sure it is not too tight or makes it too hard for baby to breathe. Baby should always go on his/her back. Once you see baby trying to roll around it is time to stop swaddling during sleep times.

How breastfeeding makes a difference

Breastfeeding or feeding your baby with breast milk has been proven to reduce the rate of SIDS. The AAP recommends only breast milk for the first 6 months and then continuing to use it with solids for up to 12 months

If you have questions about whether you're placing a baby to sleep safely you can talk to your provider or call the Fond du Lac Community Health Services Department at (218) 878-3790 and speak to a Public Health Nurse. ## Storing Cold Foods Safely

By Kara Stoneburner, RDL, RD
Public Health Dietitian

According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), 1 in 6 Americans get sick by consuming contaminated food or beverages. Many foodborne diseases have been identified and most are caused by bacteria, viruses, and parasites. Eating contaminated foods can result in nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal cramps, weakness, dehydration, an unexpected hospital stay or even death.

Children under age five, pregnant women, the elderly, people with weakened immune systems and diseases such as cancer or diabetes have a higher risk of getting sick from contaminated food. When they do get sick, the effects may be more serious.

How can you prevent foodborne illness? Proper handling, storage, preparing, cooking, serving and clean-up is essential. See the following tips and charts for storing refrigerated and frozen foods and remember, “When in doubt, throw it out”.

Maintain your refrigerator and freezer at the proper temperatures to ensure quality and safety. Refrigerators should be 40°F or below. Freezers should be 0°F or below.

Use the food storage chart as a guideline for safer foods in the kitchen.

Power outages can affect storage times of foods (as some people experienced last year). Tips for keeping food safe during a power outage are:

- Keep the door shut as much as possible
- Typically, food should be safe if power is NOT out for more than four hours
- Discard any food that has come in contact with raw meat juices
- Don't rely on appearance and odor for safety and definitely don't taste it
- If unsure, toss it out.

Check out the following chart (page 13 left) regarding foods in the refrigerator during a power outage.

Thawed or partially thawed food from the freezer may be refrozen if it still contains ice crystals or is kept at 40°F or below. Refreezing may affect the quality of some foods but they will still be safe to eat. By keeping a thermometer in the freezer, you will be able to know the temperature of the freezer when the power comes back.

Here are some guidelines for freezer storage and power outages (page 13 right)

Duluth Minnesotian of June 14, 1873

Basil Dennis wanted pay for running the ferry across the canal for the month ending June 8. The Clerk was instructed to draw an order in his favor for $110. A good portion of this money will, as usual, probably be returned to the city through the City Justice's office, by Bazil's numerous deputies.

Superior Public Library Memo of June 24, 1994 Regarding Superior Burial Grounds on Wisconsin Point and at the St. Francis Cemetery

A trail bulldozed along the Nemadji River bank some 10 years ago for the "Circle Superior Ski Classic" may have accelerated the "slumpage" of the Chippewa Burial Ground. I found the gravestone of Basil Denis, an Ojibwa-Canadian, on the trail; it was broken in three pieces from falling. The stone is now in the keeping of the sexton of the St. Francis Cemetery, Roland Plunket, or one of the sextons of the Nemadj Cemetery, Bob and Diane Fonger.

Henry and Sister Maggie Dennis 1870 Census

Accidental Drowning – Superior Chronicle of October 25, 1862

By the steamer Planet we obtain he melancholy intelligence of the accidental drowning near LaPointe of Benjamin Dennis of Superior, and Joseph Roy of LaPointe. The particulars are given by a man by the name of Joseph Lapointe, one of the party, who was picked up by some Indians near the mouth of Montreal river, after having been in the water over thirty-six hours, and are as follows.

The three men—Lapointe, Roy and Dennis started in a sail boat to come over to Bayfield on Tuesday evening the 21st instant about 8 o'clock; soon after leaving, they were compelled to lower sail and commenced to row when a heavy squall struck the boat and she upset. The wind was blowing a gale from the Northwest and the boat drifted before it –the men having succeeded in turning her bottom upward and getting on her. All three succeeded in sticking to the boat until the next day Wednesday when some time in the forenoon Roy was washed off and drowned. The other two held on until about midnight on Wednesday when Dennis died from the effect of cold and exposure. LaPointe more dead than alive, held on, and on Thursday was picked up by an Indian near Montreal river, having drifted about twenty-five miles.
